VINYL SIDING

Vinyl siding has rapidly become the more popular choice for homeowners when it comes time to replace the existing siding on their homes. It's no surprise why, as vinyl siding offers a number of great benefits that traditional wood or aluminum siding do not.

Vinyl siding has rapidly become the more popular choice for homeowners when it comes time to replace the existing siding on their homes. It's no surprise why, as vinyl siding offers a number of great benefits that traditional wood or aluminum siding does not. Vinyl Exteriors Inc is here to make the process of upgrading to vinyl siding as informative and hassle-free as possible.

For starters, vinyl siding is far more durable than other siding options that are available on the market today. Vinyl siding is created to hold up to the harsh outside elements such as strong winds, heavy rain, hail, and snow that we have become accustomed to living in Crawford County, Virginia. While we at Vinyl Exteriors Inc are confident that your vinyl siding will hold its own against damage, our siding is guaranteed to provide you peace of mind.

The versatility that vinyl siding is incredible. Now you can select up to hundreds of different color options and several different texture styles to match your vinyl siding perfectly to your desired appearance. The days of the one-size-fits-all siding are long behind us. The options that vinyl siding come in now provide you the ability to make a unique and personable selection, and with the help of Vinyl Exteriors Inc, we are confident that you will absolutely love your new siding.

One thing that everybody can appreciate is the fact that vinyl siding is virtually maintenance-free! In fact, it doesn't get much more low maintenance than this. Never again will you have to worry about termite damage to wood siding, or wood rot from rain or sprinkler system water making its way into the wood. Vinyl siding even reduces the need to touch up or repaint your home. Periodically you can simply spray down the outside of your home to remove dirt.

Like almost everything in the world, vinyl siding has made large advancements over the past several years. Even the vinyl siding on the market today is far higher quality than the vinyl siding that was on the market 10 years ago. The ability to mimic so closely the look and texture of real wood has become far better, getting rid of the seam that made it obvious they were not made of wood. At Vinyl Exteriors Inc, we are confident that we can help guide you through choosing the type of vinyl siding that is best for you and provide you with expert installation.

WINDOWS

If you're in the market for replacement windows for your home, you've probably felt a little overwhelmed by all of the different options that are on the market today. Everything from window styles, insulation and materials can have a large effect.

If you're in the market for replacement windows for your home, you've probably felt a little overwhelmed by all of the different options that are on the market today. Everything from window styles to insulation and materials can have a large effect on your energy bill throughout any given year. With so many different options to choose from, Vinyl Exteriors Inc makes the process simple with our replacement window consultation, where we figure out exactly what your needs are and guide you to the best products to suit them.

One of the most commonly asked questions by consumers looking to replace their windows is "Will I save money with these new windows"? The answer depends on several factors including the climate you live in, the size of your home, and the type of windows you purchase. This is exactly why at Vinyl Exteriors Inc we make it a point to understand what our customers' goal is in replacing their windows.

Is it to be more energy efficient? Is it to provide a more modern appearance? After understanding exactly why you're searching for new windows Vinyl Exteriors Inc can guide you through the styles that best solve the problem you're currently facing with your existing windows.

Understanding that the style of the window has a huge effect on the efficiency of your windows is the first step. Single-hung, double-hung, and sliding windows all allow more air to leak through than hopper, awning, and casement windows do. In fact, even the material used to create the window frame has an impact on the insulation your windows provide. For example, wood-framed windows do in fact provide pretty solid insulation, however, the drawback is that they are far more high maintenance, whereas vinyl-frame windows provide good insulation and require much less maintenance and attention. If you're in the market for replacement windows and are looking for help selecting the style that is best for you, complete with expert window installation, Vinyl Exteriors Inc will make the process simple and informative.

PATIO COVERS

Without a patio cover in your backyard, even hot summer days or rainy weather can dictate whether or not you can use your backyard. Take back control over your leisure by installing a patio cover that will provide you comfort year round.

Without a patio cover in your backyard, even hot summer days or rainy weather can dictate whether or not you can use your backyard. Take back control over your leisure by installing a patio cover that will provide you comfort year round. Patio covers offer more benefits to your home living than just protection from sun, and Vinyl Exteriors Inc wants to help you make an educated decision on whether or not to purchase a patio cover for your backyard.

If it's too hot outside to relax without the sun making you uncomfortable, this means that sunlight is probably beating down on your home and windows, causing the temperature inside of your home to get warm. Not only is a stuffy room something that nobody enjoys, the alternative is running the air conditioning, however requiring your AC to compete with the power and heat of the sun is an excellent way to get an astronomical power bill in the mail. Patio covers, especially when strategically placed, will block the sun's rays from entering your home, causing your home to stay cooler when it matters most.

As far as the visual appearance of patio covers, when the right style patio cover is selected and professionally installed by Vinyl Exteriors Inc, it will become a stunning aesthetic that both your family and guests will enjoy. With so many available customizations, our patio cover installations are sure to suit all of your needs and provide functionality throughout the year. As will all of the products that Vinyl Exteriors Inc sells and installs, we guarantee our patio covers for your peace of mind.
